InsuranceNow

Increase business agility with a powerful, proven, and affordable core solution.

Industry Challenge

The P&C industry is facing an unprecedented time of accelerating change. To keep pace, insurers need their business to move fast. However, many insurers are challenged with limited IT resources and hampered by existing legacy systems, preventing the kinds of transformation projects needed from ever occurring.
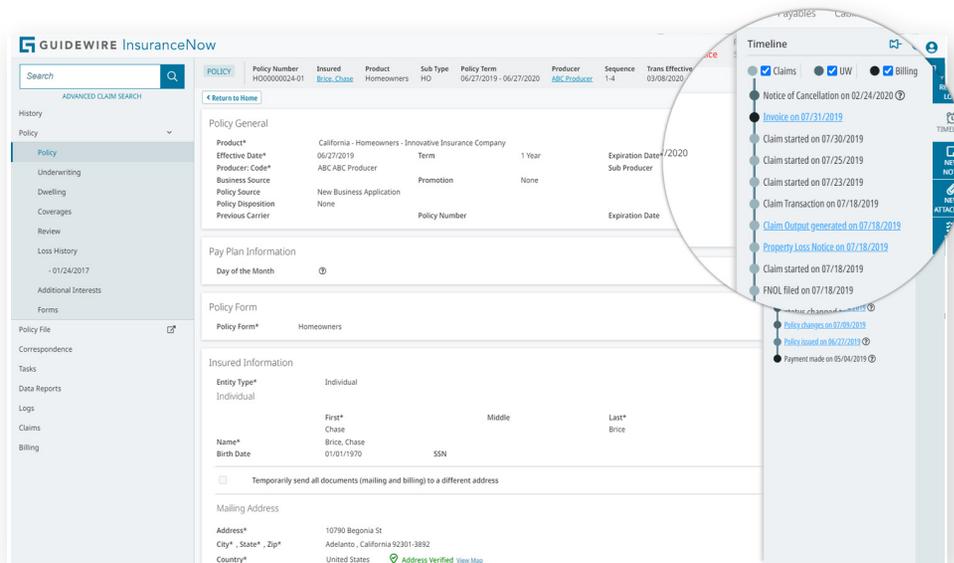

Our Solution

InsuranceNow enables P&C insurance carriers and MGAs with limited resources to replace their outdated systems quickly, increasing business agility so they can turn challenges into opportunities.

Purpose-built for insurers like you.

Traditional P&C insurance core systems have been designed to serve the varying needs of all insurers, including the world's largest and most complex. These systems are therefore complex themselves, requiring teams of people to implement, integrate, and support.

InsuranceNow is different: It is purpose-built for U.S. regional, super-regional, and mutual insurance carriers and MGAs that focus on personal, main-street commercial, and straightforward specialty lines and are constrained by limited resources. InsuranceNow provides you the freedom to focus on innovation and service with a ready-to-go core system that is is powerful, proven, and affordable. Its all-in-one design leads to rapid implementation and regular upgrades, keeping your technology current and your business agile.

◥ Implement Confidently

◥ Innovate Rapidly

◥ Grow Efficiently

Increase business agility.

Respond faster to capitalize on new opportunities and keep pace with rapidly changing market demands.

InsuranceNow is a ready-to-go core solution, with purpose-built features, content, and more integrations provided out-of-the-box, eliminating the need for customizations. As a result, you can realize the return on your investment much sooner and get back to business.

Configuration is accomplished with easy-to-use visual editors so that business users can quickly design and roll out new product enhancements or new states without a dependence on IT to write code.

In order to respond quickly to market demands, you need to have the latest technology available to support the business. InsuranceNow provides three updates a year which means your technology stays current, so your business can remain agile.

Chief Executive Officer
Farmers Union Insurance

"We were looking for a methodology and a web-based platform that would make us current, into the 21st century, as well as easier to do business with. We don't market directly to our customers. We go through our captive agents, so we needed something that would be really handy for them to use to deliver our products"

Powerful, proven, and affordable.

Simplify your transformation project with a complete solution that eliminates unnecessary complexity.

The unique, all-in-one design of InsuranceNow means that it installs as one core application, enabling you to bring up policy, claims, and billing at once. This efficiency significantly reduces implementation time and costs while eliminating complex workarounds and ongoing integrations that often require heavy resources.

It is a platform that unifies core, digital, data and analytics. It includes out-of-the-box portals and modern APIs that enable you to better engage your customers and agents. It comes with a full library of pre-built reports and data visualizations. This, along with embedded analytics, provide the insights needed to fuel smart decisions in the moment.

InsuranceNow also features integrations with more than 100 of the P&C solution partners that you do business with so that you can quickly and easily connect with them for extended capabilities.

Secure your success.

Rest assured knowing your core operations are secure, compliant, and always on, enabling you to spend more time focused on your business.

With InsuranceNow, your core operations are managed by Guidewire and hosted in world-class AWS facilities that offer unparalleled availability and security. Redundant infrastructure and services distributed across multiple data centers, along with a comprehensive disaster recovery plan backed by SLAs, ensures business continuity for you.

On demand scalability means your system is elastic, and can accommodate spikes in needs, such as those brought about by a CAT. As a result, you're no longer burdened with provisioning servers to meet increased demand during peak usage.

Guidewire's InfoSec team has extensive information security measures in place to stay current on evolving threats, ensuring your data stays secure and protected. Our Cloud Ops team goes through annual verifications of security and privacy controls to maintain compliance, so you don't have to.
